“ My perfect off day is at the river, with friends & family. Take the boat out, sit around the fire. Absolute bliss ”

Blake Agnoletto has emerged as one of Australia's most promising road and track cyclists, achieving success across both disciplines at national and international level.

Agnoletto has delivered standout performances on the road, including:

- Australian U23 Criterium Champion 2024
- Winner – Melbourne to Warrnambool Classic 2025
- Multiple podium finishes in European races

On the track, he has established himself as a key member of Australia's endurance program:

- Gold medal – Team pursuit at the 2025 UCI Nations Cup
- Silver medal – Team pursuit at the 2025 UCI Track World Championships
- Multiple medals across Oceania Championships and UCI Nations Cup events

Balancing success across both road and track, Agnoletto continues to build a reputation as one of Australia's most versatile and exciting endurance riders.

how I got into cycling

I used to watch my dad race at club events, and it all snowballed from there

one challenge I've had to overcome

Covid, having to deal with top age U19 through covid was pretty rough as well as juggling online school for year 12. A lot of opportunities were missed but it was character building for the long run!
