² 'Improperly' in this context means not in accordance with standard sets of behaviour accepted in the participant's sport. Some practices in a sport may, when applying a strict interpretation without context, be seen as Prohibited Conduct, however, given the behaviour is culturally acceptable among participants and spectators of the sport, this conduct is, therefore, deemed not 'improper'. - (i) enter into any form of commercial arrangement with a Wagering Service Provider;
- (ii) induce, advertise or promote betting on an Activity, without the prior permission of AusCycling; or
- (iii) promote or endorse a Wagering Service Provider.

Appendix A: Examples of Prohibited Conduct

1. For the purposes of clause 4.1(a)i. of this Policy, examples of Prohibited Conduct whereby a Relevant Person participates (whether by act or omission) in improperly altering the result or the course of an Activity in order to remove all or part of the unpredictable nature of the Activity to obtain a Benefit for themselves or others include, but are not limited to:
 - (a) deliberate underperformance (also known as 'tanking') in any manner (through selections or not playing to a person's merits), including for the intention to progress to an easier draw, a lower grade or for the intention of benefiting a 'friendly' opponent;
 - (b) intentional unfair or incorrect officiating.
 - (c) Agreeing to take offers to lose a race to split prize money.
 - (d) Propositioning another athlete to lose a race to enhance your own results.
 - (e) Setting incorrect weight or height or deliberately mis-calibrating equipment
2. However, 'improperly' in this context means not in accordance with standard sets of behaviour accepted in Cycling. Some practices in Cycling may, when applying a strict interpretation without context, be seen as Prohibited Conduct; however, that conduct is in accordance with standard sets of behaviour accepted in Cycling. The following does not constitute Prohibited Conduct, include, but are not limited to:
 - (a) selecting specific athletes for a qualification event to maximise entry quotas of the associated club or representative team/squad;
 - (b) resting players/athletes for a legitimate competitive objective such as the development of the team or other players, or the management of player fatigue or injuries;
 - (c) resting players/athletes from a match or race of a competition to maximise a team performance in the finals; or
 - (d) not selecting a player for an entire series or tour to provide them with an extended rest period in preparation for a future series or tour.
 - (e) Working for one rider on a team to support a rider/s towards a particular strategy (e.g. stage win or other classification)
 - (f) Riders or teams focusing on a particular stage in a road tour.
 - (g) Riders collaborating in a track bunch race or wheel race to catch other riders

Appendix B: Examples of Direct and Indirect Connections for a Relevant Person

1. A Relevant Person has a direct connection to an Activity if they are:
 - (a) an Athlete participating/competing in the Activity;
 - (b) coach or support personnel of a Team or Athlete participating in the Activity;
 - (c) a trainer/para-medical of a Team or Athlete participating in the Activity;
 - (d) a commissaire, technical official, or official, of the Activity appointed by a Relevant Organisation;
 - (e) An Employee, Contractor, or Volunteer involved in the organisation of the Activity.
2. A Relevant Person has an indirect connection to an Activity if (but not limited to):
 - (a) the Activity is a single race, event, or competition the Relevant Person does not directly participate in; however, it is a part of a series, event, or season competition, of which the Relevant Person participates in, or is directly connected to. For example, if a Relevant Person's team competes in the state Cycling series which involves another nine teams in a 10-round draw, that Relevant Person is prohibited from betting on any match in the entire state Cycling series.
 - (b) they are an Employee, Contractor, or Volunteer with a Relevant Organisation organising the Activity. For example, if the Relevant Person is an Employee, Contractor, or Volunteer of AusCycling and the AusCycling organises the national championships, the Relevant Person is prohibited from betting on any competition, match, or race of that national championships.
 - (c) the Activity includes participants competing on behalf of a Relevant Organisation and the Relevant Person is an Employee, Contractor, or Volunteer of that Relevant Organisation. For example, if a regional representative team is competing at the state championships, an Employee, Contractor, or Volunteer of the relevant regional association is prohibited from betting on any Activity at those state championships.

For the avoidance of doubt, simply being an Individual Member of a Relevant Organisation does not imply an indirect relationship to the Activity. For example, an Individual Member of a Member Organisation, in the absence of any direct or indirect connection, is not prohibited from betting on an Activity that includes state or national Participants.
