About Time

most people don't know that...

I'm a twin

if I weren't a cyclist, I'd be...

I'm sure I would've tried my hand at another sport at least, probably running. Longer term, I'm interested to see where my degrees take me but I'd hope for some sort of strategic position in finance

James Moriarty has established himself as one of Australia's leading endurance track cyclists, progressing through the junior ranks to become a regular member of the ARA Australian Cycling Team.

After making his elite debut in 2022, Moriarty quickly delivered on the international stage:

- Silver medal – Team pursuit 2025 UCI Track World Championships
- Gold medal – Team pursuit 2025 UCI Track Nations Cup (Konya)
- Fourth – Individual pursuit 2025 UCI Track World Championships
- Multi-time national and Oceania champion
- Former holder of the individual pursuit national record (set in 2025)
- Bronze medal – Team pursuit at the 2022 Commonwealth Games

Moriarty continued to build his credentials as a key member of Australia's endurance program, when he was selected as a reserve for the highly competitive and successful Paris 2024 Olympic Games Team Pursuit squad.

His success in both team and individual pursuit events has positioned him as a strong contender at this year's Commonwealth Games.

what would a successful commonwealth games look like

It's surreal to look back on Birmingham 2022 and see how much I've grown. I've got bigger personal ambitions in the IP this time, but am also part of a team with some very good opportunities during the week, including our main target in the TP. We were young and ambitious last cycle, but there's no doubt we're going to Glasgow to win

I've been honoured to meet many heroes of Australian cycling
